

DangerCompSciGraphicCompetition

Let's make this discussion a little more formal. (I'm going to this trouble because I put aside 10 minutes to come up with a design.)

Here is the current sign:

* * *

Possible logos we could attach to it (taken from DiaryOfAlexFanClub):

RoBt: Great to see that sign! I suggested it years ago, although I also suggested we use the "Danger: Corrosive" symbol, too. :-)

Actually, in looking for that pic, I see the image is far less standardised than I thought. But anyway, I think we should have a contest to find a new sign, to go with such danger signs as "Danger: Radioactivity", "Danger: Biohazard", etc.: we need a sign for "Danger: Computer Science".

DonAld says: I made that sign a week ago, then didn't get around to putting it up on anything higher than one of my shelves. But I'm glad to see that a combination of CrAig and ALEx was able to accomplish what my own apathy prevented me from doing :-)

MikeMcGavin: Here's my 10 minute entry: (or some variation thereof)

PippinBarr: I'm all over this when I get back from Tokyo, I can tell you that.

RillaKhaled: Found out about this today from PippinBarr (I should really check the wiki more...) so here's my entry:

and

(and yes, I am aware that the second one is strangely reminiscent of the first!)
